How to install the Fluted Tambour Wood Effect Wall Panels

1. Preparation

Ensure the area where you plan to install your panels is clean, dry, and free from obstruction, and you have all materials for installing them. You will need a strong adhesive to install the panels, and a nail gun may be used for additional reinforcement. Measure your space and ensure you have enough panels to cover your space.

2. Cut the panels

Cut the panels using a hand or power saw equipped with a sharp, fine-tooth blade to fit your space. We recommend cutting out any space you need for sockets or lighting at this stage.

3. Glue the panel

Apply an even layer of glue onto the back of the panel, ensuring the edges and corners are well covered. Carefully place the panel onto the desired spot, pressing firmly to make sure the glued surface makes full contact with the wall. Optional: use a nail gun to reinforce the panel as required.

4. Fitting additional panels

Using the tongue and groove installation system, glue and slot the panels together to cover your space. Glue may seep out from the edges of the panels, especially on the join lines. Clean up the excess glue with a damp cloth as you go.

5. Drying time

Allow the glue to dry fully before installing any other fixtures onto the panels. Please refer to the adhesive manufacturer's drying and cure time.
